The Selections

RIALTO CABERNET SAUVIGNON

Controlled Designation of Origins

The grapes of this special selection come from the southwestern area of the Euganean Hills, where the soils are more stony and shallow.

In addition to having a higher sugar richness, the productions have a greater concentration of components capable of highlighting the structure of the wines to which they will give rise. These products also remain for a long time after having tasted them in the taste memory of the consumer. The olfactory intensity and roundness give it absolute pleasure in drinking it.
